SUBJECT: Staffing Announcement | Central West LHIN Sub-Region Clinical Leads

Since transition, the Health System Strategy, Integration and Planning portfolio has made excellent progress in establishing the LHIN's five Sub-Region Collaboratives. As their names imply, their structure is collaborative by design, encompassing integration, home and community care and clinical considerations. Important additions to these teams, today we are pleased to announce the appointment of the LHIN's new Sub-Region Clinical Leads.

Each Clinical Lead will be responsible for local quality initiatives, working closely with primary care providers, inter-professional teams, and administrative leads in their sub-region to achieve provincially defined performance metrics, and to develop a more integrated system or network of care at the sub-region level, including primary care, public health, home care and community care, mental health and addictions, long-term care, and acute care.

The LHIN's Sub-Region Clinical Leads are:

Bramalea and Area	Dr. Caroline Collins
Brampton and Area	Clinton Baretto, NP
Bolton Caledon	Dr. Nihal El Khouly
Dufferin and Area	Dr. Natasha Kaur Gill
North Etobicoke, Malton, West Woodbridge	Dr. Brian Klar

Bringing physician leaders to local and regional planning tables will be instrumental in developing a more effective model of primary care. As respected clinicians in the community, these individuals will provide leadership for local clinical engagement within their sub-regions, advise the LHIN's Senior Management Team, and work collaboratively to improve care for their respective and collective sub-region populations.

Please join us in welcoming all of our new and exceptional Sub-Region Clinical Leads to the Central West LHIN. We look forward to working with this esteemed group of clinicians as we continue to improve the provision of high-quality, patient-centered care in the Central West LHIN.
